On the morning of 9/11/2001, the high-jacked Flight 93 crashed into a field in Somerset county near Shanksville, PA, killing the 40 innocents on board. "Let's Roll" are the last words via cell phone by Todd Beamer, one of the passengers who bravely stormed the hijackers in the cockpit, and helped to prevent the terrorists from targeting yet another Washington DC site.

The Flight 93 Memorial Act of 2002 The creation of the Flight 93 National Memorial is an historic opportunity to honor the citizen heroes and to share the story of their courage. It is a monument to the very best of American character, a place where future generations can come to learn about how the actions of a few people can make a profound and lasting difference.
